Level: Basic
Area: New Testament
Course code: TE 130

Prerequisites

Basic eligibility for university studies.

Students auditing the class: No prerequisite

Educational Objectives

After completing the course the student is expected to:<sup>1</sup>

- Articulate the purpose and message of each book of the Old Testament
- Identify major events, people, and geography of the Old Testament in its ancient Near Eastern context
- Discuss major theological themes of the Old Testament
- Explain the significance of the Old Testament for a contemporary believer
- Address the foundational significance of the Old Testament for understanding the New

Contents

This course provides a grand sweep of the history and major themes of the Old Testament. Attention is given to placing each book within its historical, geographical, and cultural settings within the ancient Near East, which sheds light on interpretation of the biblical text. Issues of composition, formation, authorship, dating, and the hard questions of the Old Testament are discussed to help the student engage with modern discussions, apologetics, and significance of the Old Testament to the New Testament.

Teaching and Assessment

Local (on-site at STH) teaching, and examination for students taking the course for credit

Teaching consists of lectures, reading of assigned literature, and discussion seminars.

Students will be assessed through quizzes, participation in forum/discussion questions, a mid-term examination and a final examination.

Attendance at all classes is expected, unless excused by the instructor.
